The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday July 3, to Tuesday July 6, 1756.

Petersbourg, June 5.

HER Imperial Majesty, who has been slightly indisposed for some Days past, is now perfectly recovered. The Chamberlain Chytroff, Lieutenant General of Foot, and Brother-in-Law to Count Schuwaloff, died here last Tuesday, after a long and tedious Illness.

Vienna, June 16. The Empress Queen advances in her Pregnancy, and 'tis expected the same will soon be declared at Court. An Ordonnance is published in this City, forbidding the Inhabitants, under Pain of Death, to favour or encourage Desertion, or harbour or conceal Deserters.

Copenhagen, June 17. His Danish Majesty is expected here next Saturday from his late Journey to Holstein. Lieutenant General Baron de Reitzenstein, who was some Time since appointed Commandant of Frederica in Norway, set out from hence last Monday, in order to take Possession of that Post.

Genoa, June 19. Letters from Marseilles of the 12th Instant say, that a Dispatch arrived, three Days before, from Marshal Richelieu, but nothing had transpired of the Contents of it: That the Gates of that City had been kept shut for some Time, till the Seamen on Shore, and in the Harbour, not excepting those belonging to Foreign Vessels, had been pressed to mann the five Ships fitting out at Toulon: That 800 Bales of Wool, and all Kinds of Provisions and Military Stores, were embarking for the French Army at Mahon: That they work Night and Day at Toulon in fitting the Ships, but that they are in such Want of Guns, that Orders were come to take the Brass Cannon out of the Arsenal, or mounted on the Batteries, that were proper for the lower Decks; and that 800 Seamen were expected from the Western Parts of France. Two Genoese, who left Mahon the 6th Instant, say, that when they came away the French had opened two new Batteries of six Guns each, and two of six and eight Mortars, but it was computed they had lost near 2000 Men since their first landing.

Berlin, June 24. The King arrived on Saturday last at Potzdam from Magdebourg. His Majesty has been pleased to appoint M. Courts, Master of Arts in the University of Frankfort upon the Oder, to be Professor of Philosophy in that University. The Conferences at Halle, between the Commissaries of his Majesty and those of Saxony, for settling of Commerce, are at an End, those Commissaries not having come to any Agreement.

Humburgh, June 29. Last Saturday, towards Noon, we had here a violent Storm of Thunder and Lightening, which was attended with a very heavy Rain and Hail; from which, however, no Damage was received: But Yesterday in the Afternoon we had a second and more violent one than the preceding, which lasted about half an Hour; and the Hail being of a Size uncommon in these Parts, and from the Hurricane with which this Storm was accompanied, Numbers of Windows in this City were broke.

Hague, June 29. We are informed by our last Advices from Calais, that the Troops appointed to form a Camp between that Place and Dunkirk, are to assemble next Friday, when the Duke de Belleisle is expected at Dunkirk, where Part of his Equipage is already arrived.

Brussels, July 2. Since our Advices of the 14th of June, from Minorca, we have no further Accounts of the Progress of the French against St. Philip's Castle. They only give out in general, that they proceed with much greater Success, since the Plan of their Attack has been changed. Marechal de Belle Isle is daily expected at Dunkirk, from whence he is to proceed to examine the Dispositions made all along the Coasts of the Ocean as far as Bayonne.
